Those who do many tests tend to rely on downloading blood glucose data before their mothers' commitment or just login in a spreadsheet in our own heads. Nothing is nothing wrong with any of these, but if you are going through a bad patch, consider that a little back to the basic can really bring your control back. Look for a diet that calls you if you think the DIARY you have is difficult to use, look around and see if another supplier makes a DIARY you like the most. Perhaps you need to change the blood test mom to access dials' supplies, but if that means you end up using and obtaining the benefits of the DIARY, you may be worth going through change. You can even do your own. You end up looking at your results much more frequency than your service team, come on what works for you.
